

Advocate

Terms of Use

Effective date: June 2026 · Governing law: State of Tennessee

We do not have access to your data.	We do not collect your data.	We do not sell your data.
-------------------------------------	------------------------------	---------------------------

1. What Advocate Is

Advocate is a personal health organization tool. It helps you collect, organize, and analyze your own health records — lab results, symptoms, medications, family history, and genetic data — and generate summaries to help you prepare for medical appointments.

Advocate is not a medical device. It does not provide medical advice, diagnoses, prognoses, or treatment recommendations. Nothing produced by Advocate should be used as a substitute for consultation with a qualified healthcare provider.

2. The AI Analysis

Advocate uses artificial intelligence to identify patterns in your health data and generate summaries. You understand and agree that:

- AI-generated output is for informational and preparatory purposes only
- All findings must be reviewed by a qualified clinician before you take any action based on them
- The AI may produce incorrect, incomplete, or misleading output — this is a known limitation of AI systems
- Jeff Bright and Advocate are not responsible for harm arising from reliance on AI-generated output without appropriate clinical review

3. Not a Medical Device. Not a Healthcare Provider.

Advocate is not a medical device under FDA or any regulatory framework; not a covered entity or business associate under HIPAA; not a licensed healthcare provider; and not a substitute for professional medical advice, diagnosis, or treatment.

If you are experiencing a medical emergency, call 911 immediately. Do not rely on Advocate.

4. Your Data

Local storage: All health data you enter is stored locally on your device. Advocate does not transmit, upload, sync, or store your health records on any external server.

AI analysis: When you run an analysis, Advocate sends anonymized clinical data to Anthropic. Your name, date of birth, and all direct identifiers are removed before transmission. Anthropic does not retain this data after the analysis is returned.

Your responsibility: You are responsible for your device security and any backups you wish to maintain.

No sale of data: Your health data is never sold, shared, or disclosed to any third party for commercial purposes. Ever.

5. HIPAA

Advocate is not a covered entity or business associate under HIPAA. Advocate does not create, receive, maintain, or transmit Protected Health Information (PHI) as defined by HIPAA. Your health data is stored locally on your personal device. This architecture is deliberate.

6. Limitation of Liability

Advocate and its creator, Jeff Bright, provide the software "as is" without warranty of any kind. We make no warranties regarding accuracy, completeness, reliability, or fitness for any particular purpose. In no event shall Jeff Bright or Advocate be liable for any indirect, incidental, special, consequential, or punitive damages — including harm from medical decisions made based on Advocate's output, data loss, or personal injury. Our total liability shall not exceed the amount you paid for the software (zero, as a free product). Nothing in these terms limits liability that cannot be limited under applicable law.

7. Indemnification

You agree to indemnify and hold harmless Jeff Bright and Advocate from any claims, losses, damages, or expenses (including reasonable legal fees) arising from your use of the software, your violation of these terms, or your violation of any third party's rights.

8. Third-Party Services

Advocate uses the Anthropic API to power AI analysis. Use of the AI analysis feature is subject to Anthropic's Terms of Service and Privacy Policy. Advocate does not control Anthropic's data practices beyond the anonymization measures described in Section 4.

9. Intellectual Property

Advocate and all content within it are the intellectual property of Jeff Bright. You are granted a personal, non-exclusive, non-transferable license to use the software for personal health management. You may not copy, modify, distribute, sell, or sublicense the software.

10. Governing Law

These terms are governed by the laws of the State of Tennessee, without regard to conflict of law provisions.
